As a Level Design Director at Ubi Toronto, you'll be the creative mind behind the paths players will navigate, the landscapes they'll explore, and the unique places they'll travel as they move within an immersive world.

You'll draft a content-rich map, and then guide a talented group of level designers to bring its layouts and locations to life. As an empathetic mentor, you'll step in to help your team polish and combine their pieces to provide players with a cohesive and captivating world at their fingertips.

What you'll do

- Collaborate with the mission design director and other core team members to define the vision of a game.
- Brainstorm and research to plan the world guidelines.
- Assist level designers during prototyping (experiment with designs and explore opportunities).
- Outline the gameplay experience (landscape, landmarks, layout, flow, etc.) in world documentation that will serve as a reference and source of inspiration throughout development.
- Coordinate and oversee world level designers as they translate a vision into an engaging player experience.
- Balance artistic aspects with technical constraints to align all technical, design, graphic, and narrative features.
- Provide mentorship and constructive feedback to your level design team to achieve quality.
- Find solutions to issues uncovered by play testers and cross-functional teams (get to the root of problems to solve them).

What you bring

- A college diploma in Game Design or equivalent (undergraduate degree an asset)
- At least 8 years of experience in the video game industry or other relevant experience (architecture or urban planning an asset) and 3 years of leadership experience
- Exceptional communication, interpersonal, and presentation skills
- A solid understanding of level design and all stages of video game development
- Excellent time management, problem-solving, and organizational skills
- An innovative, creative, and collaborative spirit
- Ability to accept feedback and adapt to it - you have the flexibility to reevaluate and adjust your level design direction when and as often as needed!

What to send our way

- Your CV highlighting your education, experience, skills, and any games shipped
