As a Game Designer, you will be responsible for the design and development of gameplay features, including Operators, 3Cs (Character, Camera, Controls), and game balance. Your goal will be to maintain a dynamic, fresh, and fair gameplay experience, especially for high-level players. This role requires a strong understanding of game mechanics and player behavior, analytical and critical thinking skills, and the ability to collaborate effectively within multidisciplinary teams.

What you'll do

- Collaborate with teams: Work closely with art, technical, and design teams to bring Operators and gameplay features to life.
- Plan and adapt content: Break down existing Operators and new gameplay features into actionable tasks within the scope of Rainbow Six Siege, ensuring clear and efficient execution.
- Analyze and balance the game: Partner with the Analytics and Community teams to assess game balance and player feedback, recommending adjustments to weapons, Operators, and systems.
- Improve existing systems: Iterate on current mechanics to maintain an intuitive, modern, and mobile-optimized experience.
- Document and communicate concepts: Write and update detailed design documentation and specifications for each Operator and feature.
- Stay ahead of the industry: Monitor market trends and competitor games to ensure the gameplay remains innovative, engaging, and competitive.

What you bring

- At least 5 years of experience in game design, ideally with a focus on gameplay systems or 3C design. A strong understanding of game mechanics, balancing, and player psychology.
- Proficiency with game design tools (Unity preferred).
- The ability to creatively and innovatively adapt Siege's Operators and gameplay to a mobile experience.
- Excellent communication skills, both verbal and written.
- A collaborative mindset and the ability to thrive in a multidisciplinary team environment.

What to send our way

- Your CV highlighting your education, experience, and skills

- Samples of your work (attach files or send us a link to your demo reel or online portfolio)
