As a Senior Level Designer at Ubisoft Montreal, you will take ownership of mission creation from prototype to final polish. You will work closely with narrative, artificial intelligence, realization, animation, audio, and art teams to turn creative intentions into fluid, intuitive, and memorable gameplay experiences. In this role, you will contribute to missions that rely heavily on interconnected systems, visual scripting, and narrative integration to support strong player agency and layered gameplay outcomes.

What you'll do

- Design complete missions from prototype to final implementation
- Create gameplay experiences that are fluid, intuitive, and player-focused
- Design missions that support player agency, narrative interconnections, and multiple gameplay outcomes
- Define mission pacing, structure, objectives, and progression
- Build clean, organized, and maintainable visual scripting systems that connect gameplay, narrative, animation, audio, and artificial intelligence elements
- Collaborate with cross-functional teams to ensure gameplay quality and consistency
- Translate narrative intentions into engaging playable experiences
- Communicate priorities, needs, and production follow-ups clearly across teams
- Support and mentor other members of the level design team
- Contribute to improving team workflows and quality standards

What you bring to the team
